Hansji is finalizing the exterior design to complement the existing Luhrs Tower and Building which have undergone extensive renovations. Construction is underway.

ASU-Downtown Phoenix

Arizona State University is fully established in Downtown Phoenix, with $219 million invested to create the 11,500-student campus on the north side of Downtown Phoenix.

Nine city blocks accommodate multiple colleges and Civic Space, the urban park north of Central Bus Terminal. The Walter Cronkite School of Journalism facility opened in August 2008. Taylor Place, the student housing complex at the Downtown Campus opened phase 1 in August of 2008 accommodating 650 students. Phase 2 was completed in August 2009 bringing the total to 1,284 beds.

Construction on Phase 2 of the College of Nursing was completed in 2009. The 5-story building provides much needed space for the largest nursing school in the country. There are 11,500 students taking classes Downtown, and that number is to grow to 15,000 at full enrollment. Construction commenced on the new Arizona Center for Law and Society, the future home of the Sandra Day O'Connor School of Law. The building will open in Summer 2016. Having a student and academic population in Downtown has infused the streets with life as well as assisted the local retail environment.
